Department Overview

The Department of Educational Leadership, Management and Policy is dedicated to serving and developing aspiring and current leaders. Graduates pursue leadership roles in a variety of organizations, such as public and private PK-12 schools, higher education institutions, law enforcement agencies, and non-profit and policy organizations. The Department offers a portfolio of certificate, master's, educational specialist, and doctoral programs. Each program is individualized to meet students' strengths and professional goals. Values like excellence, care, service, diversity, equity, and inclusion, and visionary and ethical leadership are hallmarks of the programs.

The department is located on Seton Hall's South Orange campus. Programs occur in hybrid and online modalities. In-person classes occur during evenings and on weekends to meet the needs of working professionals. Online programs include synchronous and asynchronous modalities.

Department Policies and Procedures

The following listed policies do not cover all policies and procedures to which students are held and focus only on those related to factors that would be considered in an audit of students' academic progress. Students are also held accountable for university policies, as well as policies listed in student program handbooks.

Academic Probation Policy

Any student who has a cumulative grade point average (GPA) below 3.0 at the end of a semester is automatically placed on academic probation per university guidelines. Consequently, a registration hold will be put in place, and the probationary student will only be allowed to register for classes after meeting with his/her program academic advisor. The department will take the following steps each semester to enforce the university's academic probation rules:

1. A department secretary will check the cumulative GPAs of all students after final grades are submitted and posted at the conclusion of each semester (Fall, Spring, Summer I & Summer II). The names of all students below a 3.0 cumulative GPA will be forwarded to the department chair and relevant program director.

2. All students with a cumulative GPA below 3.0 will be sent a letter from the department chair (with their advisor/mentor and program director copied) notifying them of their status on academic probation as well as the conditions for continued enrollment (see below). Students who are placed on academic probation must meet with the department chair before being able to register for any classes.
3. The chair and program director will work with faculty advisors and the registrar's office to enforce registration holds. As students may register before they receive grades that would place them on academic probation (such as in November for spring semester courses), a department secretary should notify the academic advisor and program director of any student on academic probation regarding that student's status. The faculty in that program will then develop a remediation plan for that student to be approved by the program director. It is then the responsibility of the student's advisor (in conjunction with the program director) to work with the student and other instructors to make sure the remediation plan and registration conditions (as detailed below) are followed.
4. In cases where the probationary student also serves as a graduate assistant, the chair and/or program director will notify the University's Graduate Assistantship Program director that the student is no longer in good standing and note that the student's graduate assistantship must be terminated as per university guidelines.

Students who are on academic probation must abide by the following criteria in order to remain enrolled in the program:

1. Students must meet with their academic advisor and discuss their registration plans for the semester and how they intend to regain a 3.0 GPA as soon as possible. In order for the registration hold to be lifted, the student's advisor must contact the department chair to give approval.
2. Students are limited to taking a maximum of six credits per semester while their cumulative GPA is below 3.0. Exceptions to this six-credit limit will only be considered in cases where a student is a member of an executive cohort program or an international student whose visa status requires the student to take at least nine credits per semester. In these cases, the student's academic advisor will develop a plan with the student for ensuring adequate academic progress; this plan will then be reviewed by the program director and placed into the student's file upon approval.
3. Students who are on academic probation to begin a semester must either earn a 3.5 semester GPA or regain a 3.0 cumulative GPA by the end of that semester. Students who cannot meet at least one of these criteria are subject to dismissal from their program of study.
4. Students may register for up to two additional semesters while on academic probation as long as conditions (1)-(3) above are satisfied. A cumulative GPA below 3.0 for three consecutive semesters results in a student being subject to dismissal from their program of study.

Time to Degree

Students must complete their programs of study within the following number of years following their initial admission, excepting approved leaves of absence that meet Graduate Catalogue requirements:

- Master's and EdS programs: Six (6) years
- EdD and PhD programs: Ten (10) years

If a student fails to complete their program within that time period, they will be dismissed. The student will then have to reapply for admission as a new student (which is not guaranteed) and is subject to all current course requirements in the program of study. Students may be subject to retaking courses, examinations, and/or any parts of the program that the program's faculty deem necessary.

A student may not be reinstated without reapplying for admission if initial enrollment occurred long enough ago that the time to degree requirements either have already been broken or a path to completion is unlikely while meeting the timing requirements.

Degree Programs

Graduate programs in the Department can largely be organized into three areas: (1) K-12 education leadership; (2) higher education leadership; and (3) law enforcement leadership. The sections below detail the admissions and degree requirements for each of the areas. Program directors for the individual programs are the points of contact for more information; see the top of the Department section to find contact information.
