STHO 6138 Theo Aesthetic God Beauty Film (3 Credits)

Few realities captivate us culturally, emotionally, and aesthetically, as the medium of film. In the complex multimedia culture we live in, film moves us in a way which no other media seems capable of doing. Moreover, films have a rich capacity to explore ideas and raise questions in something more than merely an intellectual manner. In this course, we will seek to capture film capturing us as we study three aspects of this draw: First, we will explore the medium of film itself and why it is so powerful. Second, we will examine the human emotional life to which film is intimately connected and on which it operates. Finally, we will explore some theological themes, issues, and questions – ranging from anthropology to morals to eschatology – which are raised in contemporary film."

This course introduces the modern ecumenical movement in which separated Christians are seeking to overcome centuries' long divisions, and to work for Christian unity. Since the Second Vatican Council (1962-65) the Catholic Church has engaged in official ecumenical dialogues with other Christians to resolve doctrinal divergencies at the root of their divisions. These dialogues, outlined here, have resulted in significant achievements, while important remaining divergencies between Christians still prevent full unity. The importance of interreligious dialogue is illustrated in one session on Jewish-Catholic relations, and another on Muslim-Catholic relations. Ecumenical and interreligious relationships have become characteristic of the present era.
