ONLINE MASTER'S DEGREE IN LEGAL STUDIES (MLS): CONCENTRATION IN CORPORATE COMPLIANCE

The MLS program provides non-attorney professionals working in all industries with the tools and expertise to navigate the complex legal and regulatory aspects of regulated industries. Corporate compliance is an area of substantial concern for all companies and requires the development of internal policies and procedures to ensure compliance with state and federal regulatory standards. The evolution of regulatory standards for a wide variety of industries, combined with the enhanced need for protection of corporate computer systems, networks, mobile devices and data, has resulted in a massive increase in the need for compliance professionals that are attuned to the specific needs of regulated industries.

The MLS degree is designed to accommodate the busy schedules of working professionals:

- Courses are available online or onsite *(All required courses and some core courses must be taken online).
- · Multiple degree concentrations are tailored to industry specialties.
- · Classes are small, ensuring individual attention.
- Online courses run only 8 weeks each.
- · Online courses are fully asynchronous.
- 3 start dates throughout the year make it easy to begin the program (January, June & September).
- Courses are offered 5 times throughout the year (January, March, June, September & November).
- Students may complete the MLS degree on a part-time basis in as little as two years. Students also may complete the degree on a full-time basis in one year.

The MLS. provides a rigorous grounding in the law for students who do not want to become lawyers, but who, instead, want to use the law to enhance their effectiveness and marketability in a primarily non-legal career. The MLS. is designed to help you acquire or develop a unique set of skills that promotes confidence, leadership, critical thinking and problem-solving – all of which are valuable to employers. Skills expand as your studies continue, but you will not have to wait to showcase your ability. Many graduates report that they have been able to apply what they learned in class to their work environment in real time. The skills they repeatedly acknowledge generally fall into three categories:

- Enhanced communication skills begin to develop with the very first course. The legal writing method taught by Seton Hall Law provides a strategy for creating clear and concise written products. The ability to communicate well enables you to influence others and is a soughtafter leadership skill;
- 2. Legal analysis is a key component of the MLS curriculum. Students quickly learn to identify central issues within a specific set of facts, consult relevant law and policy for guidance, and respond with concrete conclusions and recommendations. This analytical framework becomes internalized and makes it easy for you to transfer the skill to any job in any industry; and

3. Critical thinking skills are thoroughly developed. Courses in the MLS degree program require students to think critically and creatively, share ideas and opinions, and use knowledge applied to facts to solve problems. People who can work through problems independently or as an effective member of a team are an asset to employers.

Combining this degree with their professional experiences, MLS graduates have numerous opportunities available to them. Alumni work in a broad spectrum of positions as compliance officers, HR professionals, cybersecurity and privacy officers, contract managers and analysts, healthcare administrators, nurse managers, patent/trademark assistants, pharmaceutical executives, quality assurance managers, supervisors, clinical operations or clinical trial directors, and lobbyists. Courses are offered fully asynchronously online to accommodate working students.
