

CREATIVE WRITING MINOR

The 18-credit Creative Writing minor provides a broad yet thorough introduction to each area of the discipline, including the essay, fiction, and poetry. It enables students to pursue their majors and career goals with greater literacy, sharper analytical skills and more polished writing skills. It also enables students to engage in and foster creative expression. Literature majors may pursue the creative writing minor. In that case, Introduction to Creative Writing will count for both the advanced writing elective in the major and for the creative writing minor.
